HLTAID011 Provide First Aid

At Personnel Training, we offer HLTAID011 Provide First Aid as a blended learning model, being a combination of online and face to face learning. This course provides the skills and knowledge required to provide a first aid response to a casualty in a range of situations within community and workplace settings.

These skills are in line with the first aid guidelines determined by the Australian Resuscitation Council (ARC).

This course is also available as an update for people already holding a current First Aid certificate.

This qualification includes the following unit:

- HLTAID011 Provide First Aid

Delivery method:

- A combination of online theory pre-learning is required to be completed prior to attending the practical face to face element.
- 1 day face to face practical (6 hrs) at Personnel Training's Wodonga office.

Requirements:

As part of the Provide First Aid course, you are required to complete the online pre-learning prior to attending the face-to-face element of learning. The online pre-learning is completed off-site. Learners should allow 10 hours in total to complete the required readings and assessments. Evidence of completion must be provided on the day of face-to-face practical learning. Students wishing to undertake an update of their course must also complete the online pre-learning activities. A copy of a current HLTAID011 first aid certificate/competency card (or equivalent) will be required.

Assessment:

Each candidate must demonstrate skills in an environment that provides realistic in-depth, scenarios and simulations to assess candidates' skills and knowledge. Simulated assessment environments must simulate real-life situations where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources that a workplace or community environment would provide.
